biography

In 2005, founding members and friends Rob Wilson, Julius Ingram, Domieka Cantey, Darron Thomas, and Bluford Thompson kept getting asked to play at various events throughout Greensboro, North Carolina.

One particular engagement, a promoter asked what was the name of the band? The five founding members never really thought about starting a band but had to respond to the question given.

From spontaneity, Darron responded that the name of the band is “No Straight Answer”, because at the time, they really did not have a straight answer to what the band should be called.

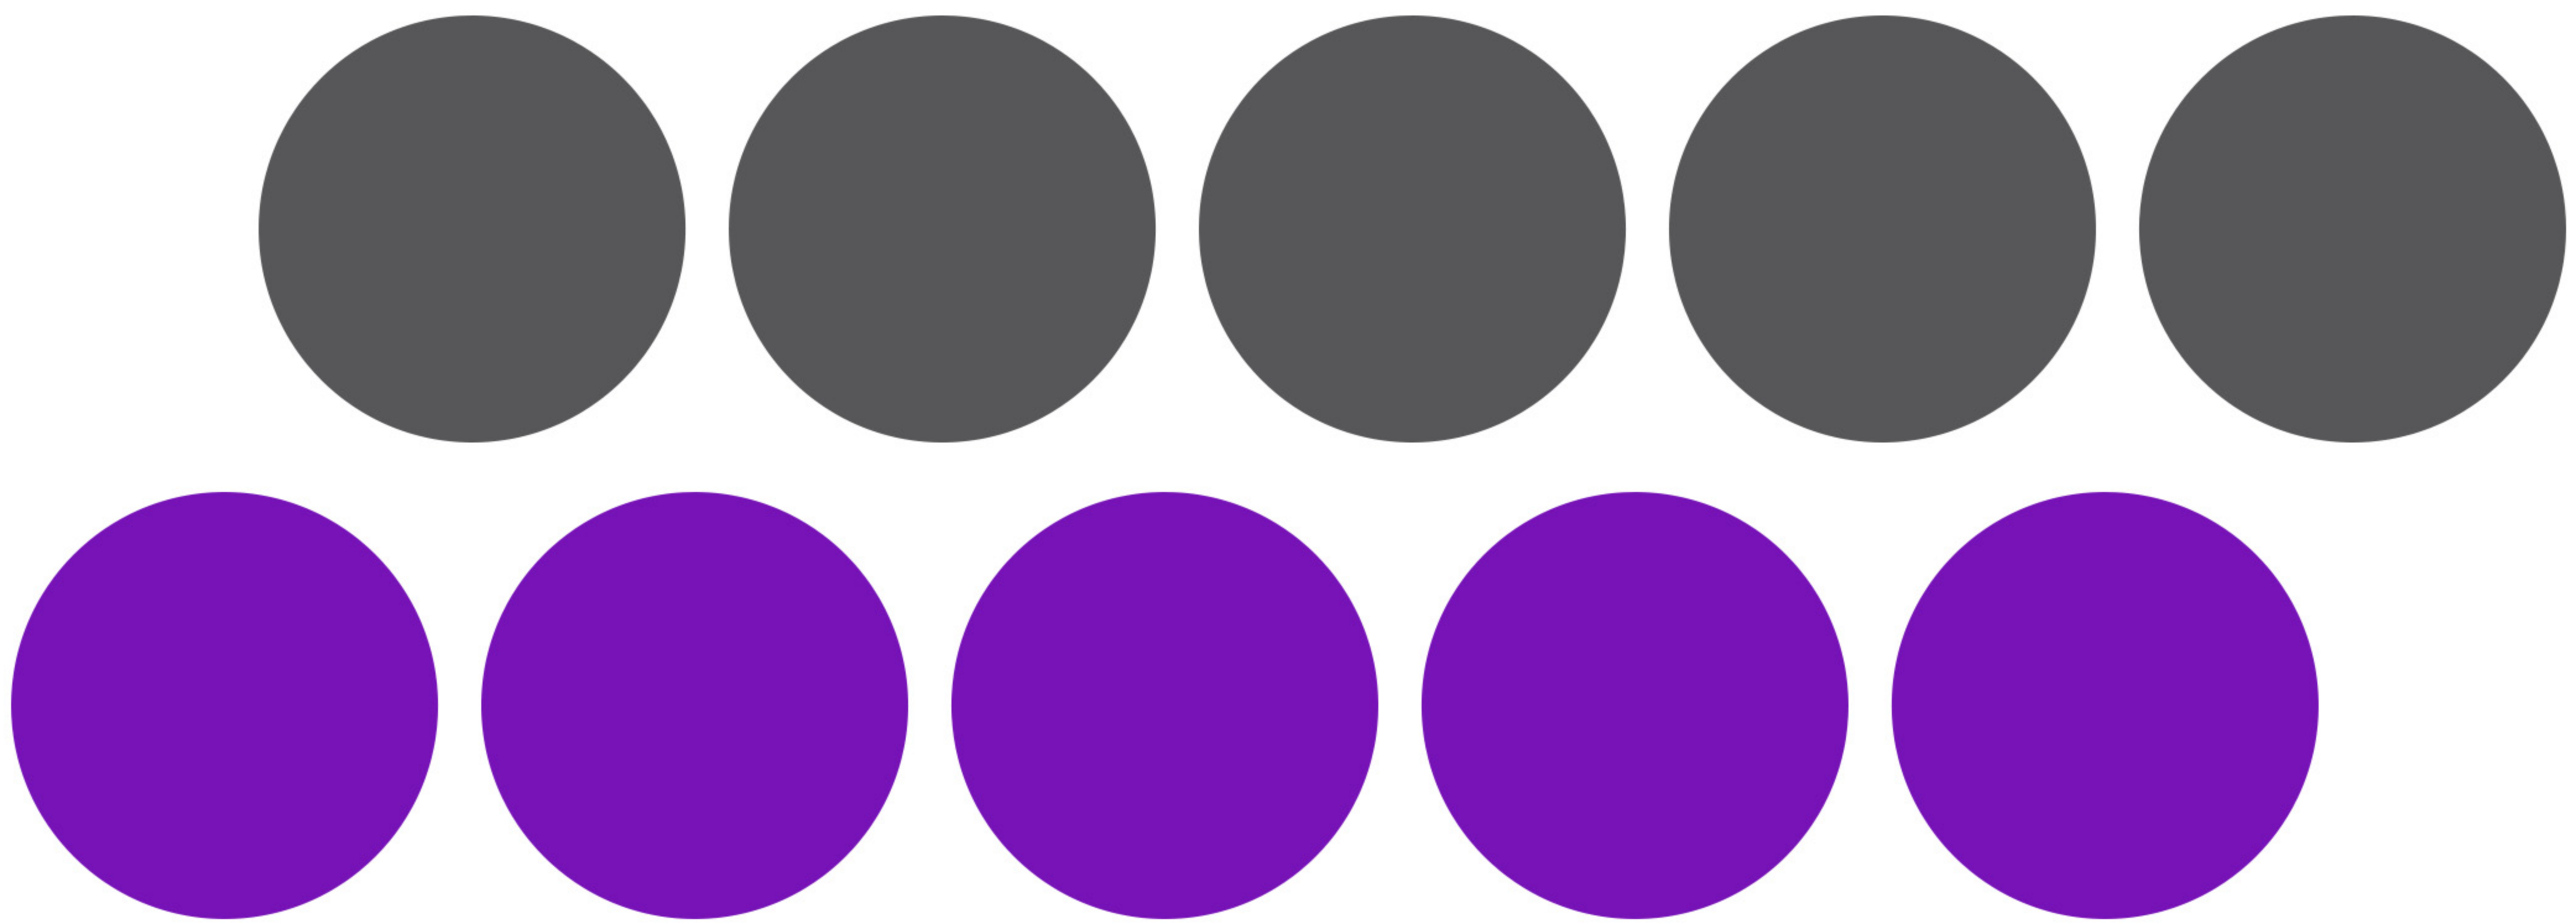

The rest, as they say, was history!
